In a bid to ensure that as many of my publications are as open as possible, I've begun trawling the back catalogue and am pleased to say, after a conversation with the editor of Pynchon Notes, that I am free to post an accepted version of the article. The publication, which covers the historical sources for the Peter Pinguid society in The Crying of Lot 49 was originally published in 2011. It will also shortly appear in the University of Lincoln's repository.
