OK, so, as I am sure you know, this coming Thursday is Pynchon in Public Day, when we celebrate the birthday of one of America's greatest (and most invisible) living novelists by reading his works in public and posting photos. In order to mark this event, my publisher, Palgrave Macmillan, has extremely kindly donated two copies of the book to be given away to the two entries posted to the #Pynchon2014 or #PynchonInPublic hashtags on Twitter that I deem most Pynchonian and/or amusing!

Furthermore -- even better! -- if you tweet a picture, you will be eligible (as a personal customer) for a 25% discount on the book. See the attached flyer for the details!
